DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is responsive to the Amendment received on April 25, 2005.

Claim Objections

The objection of claim 1 for containing minor informality made in the Office Action mailed on August 30, 2004 is withdrawn in view of the Amendment received on April 25, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The rejection of claim 17 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Danssaert et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,525,300, issued June 11, 1996), made in the Office Action mailed on August 30, 2004 is withdrawn in view of the Amendment received on April 25, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-16 and 18-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is indefinite for reciting the phrase, "a controller having a user interface for inputting a predetermined temperature profile," because the phrase following the word, "for," is an intended use and it renders the claim indefinite as to whether the controller comprises an input mechanism." Claim also recites the phrase, "wherein the controller is configured so that both isothermal and nonisothermal temperature profiles can be performed in the same apparatus," which renders indefinite whether the controller must perform the isothermal and nonisothermal temperature profiles or is merely an intended use limitation. Further, it appears that the controller allows the both isothermal and nonisothermal temperature reactions (not profiles) to be performed in the apparatus when read in light of the specification.

Claims 2-15 are indefinite by way of their dependency on claim 1.

Claim 8 recites the phrase, "the gripping mechanism for gripping and transferring one reaction vessel..." It is confusing as to whether the gripping mechanism actually grips and transfers the reaction vessel, as the phrase following the word, "for" is an intended use limitation. Amending the claim to recite the phrase, "the gripping mechanism that grips and transfers," would overcome this rejection.

Claims 12-13, 16, 18-32 are also indefinite for the analogous reason, as containing the word, "for," followed by an intended use limitation.

Conclusion

No claims are allowed.

Attempts were made to resolve the above deficiencies via telephonic means, but could not correspond with Applicants, resulting in the present Office Action.
